

WEST PENNSYLVANIA SYNOD

OCT. 16, 1917, IMPORTANT DATE
IN SYNOD'S HISTORY.

Merger Goes Through by Big Vote—
United Body Invited to Meet in York Next Year.

October 16, 1917, takes a place among the important dates in the history of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of West Pennsylvania. By almost unanimous consent, the synod in convention in St. Matthew's Church, York, that afternoon adopted the recommendation of the committee which proposed the merger of the General Synod, the General Council and the United Synod of the South into a United Lutheran Church of America.

The West Pennsylvania Synod is the thirteenth district body to adopt the merger plan, nine other synods are in session this week and expected to make similar action.

The second feature of Oct. 16, 1917, was an invitation from Christ congregation, the Mother Church in York, to the consolidated bodies, to hold their initial convention in York in November, 1918. The historic split in the General Synod which resulted in the organization of the General Council, occurred in Christ Church in 1854. The communication petitioning the synods to mend their break where it occurred so many years ago was presented by Dr. George W. Enders, the veteran pastor of Christ Church.

Dr. Frederick G. Gotwalt was re-elected president and Dr. Albert Bell treasurer. Rev. Henry W. Snyder, of Shippensburg, was chosen secretary of the synod.

After the merger proposition had been presented for ratification President Gotwalt called upon Rev. Jacob A. Clutz, D.D., of Gettysburg, a representative of the committee on ways and means of the General Synod, who presented a paper which was a carefully prepared and well thought out plan for the merger. It was a plan which was a reality and for more than an hour he was plying his questions. A number of articles in the proposed constitution were also presented for discussion. All but four of the nearly two hundred representatives present voted in the affirmative. Synod arose and sang the Long Meter Doxology.

President Gotwalt, in his report, stated that the Adams County Conference had spent $8,621 in improvements to churches during the past year. He reported nine churches vacant, among the number, Fairfield and New Chester. He urged the Synod to make some special provision for the care of soldiers on its territory at Gettysburg.

A total of twenty-three theological students at Gettysburg will receive a minimum sum of $200 with an added $50 if needed to assist them in financing their studies this year, according to action taken by the Synod.

Rev. J. B. Baker, D.D., chairman of committee on ministerial education, in making his report, recommended that a sum of $4,600 be given to the twenty-three theological students at Gettysburg to assist them in their schooling. This sum would have averaged $200 to each of the students. A discussion arose when some members of the Synod suggested that more than that sum may be needed by some of the students and suggested that a maximum of $300 be fixed. It was finally agreed to give each of the students if they need it money over and above $200 but not to exceed $250.

Potomac Synod.

The forty-fifth annual sessions of the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States will be held next week in Zion Reformed Church, Hagerstown, Md. The Synod will convene next Monday evening. The Potomac Synod is composed of eight classes as follows: Zion's, Maryland, Mercersburg, Virginia, North Carolina, Gettysburg, Carlisle, and Juniata. The Gettysburg classis will be represented at the session by the following pastors: Revs. John H. Hartman, Francis S. Lindaman, M. J. Roth, T. C. Hesson, N. W. Sechler, Silas P. Mauger, Abner S. Dechant, Walter E. Garrett, John L. Guth, Milton Whitener, I. S. Ditzler, J. N. Faust, A. H. Smith, V. G. Hartman and P. R. Pentins.

Pa. Conference of U. B. Church.

The one hundred and twenty-eighth annual session of the Pennsylvania Conference of the United Brethren Church, came to a close at Washington, D. C., with services on Friday, Oct. 19, at the Washington Hotel.

Among other features of the conference of special interest to the people of this county are the following:

Rev. W. R. Glen, of Gettysburg, made a report on "Christian Stewardship" and Rev. Ira S. Ernest, of Biglerville, on "Christian Endeavor," and these reports aroused much interest manifested in the discussions following.

"The Future of the Church" was the subject of an address by one of the oldest ministers in the U. B. denomination, and among the oldest in the county able to officiate at a service, Rev. Dr. Z. A. Colestock, well known in Adams county.

The report of the treasurer showed a total contributed for all purposes of $51,690.36, about $5,000 more than last year's total.

The assignments of pastors for the next conference year made few changes in the county. The assignments for county and others of interest are as follows:

Baltimore Third—J. E. Kleffman.
Baltimore Fourth—A. N. Horn.
Bendersville—J. C. Gardner.
Biglerville—Ira S. Ernest.
Dallastown—G. W. Sherrick.
Frederick—E. H. Hummelbaugh.
Gettysburg—W. R. Glen.
Littletown—M. B. Heiland.

Second Call for Draft Army Soon.

Discussion of the advisability of expediting the call for the second increment of the draft army now in progress at the War Department and it appears likely that the date may be fixed for some time in December or January.

Mobilization of the first increment of 687,000 men is now far enough advanced to show clearly that there will be a big deficiency for the seventeen national army divisions. More than 250,000 of the first increment are still to be assembled, but it already is evident that there will be available at the sixteen cantonments quarters for an additional regiment at each post and at some for a full brigade of two regiments.

The strength of the new regimental organization is 3,600 men. With a regiment lacking at each cantonment, this alone would mean a shortage of nearly 50,000 men. In addition there has been authorized a separate division of negro troops, which means nearly 30,000 men withdrawn from the original number assigned to the sixteen cantonments.

The shortage is due partially to the necessity of taking out of the national army men to fill up national guard divisions. Two complete national army divisions of southern troops have been absorbed in this way. The remnants of three other national army divisions will be consolidated to form a single divisional unit, and the surplus men from other camps will be sent south to make up the missing divisions.

Drafts of the national army forces also must be made to fill up the enlisted personnel of the aviation service, the medical corps and the service battalions needed behind the fighting lines abroad. Eventually there will be 250,000 men in the last named service alone, and aviation and the medical service will take nearly as many more though not all of them will be taken from the national army.

Operating to delay the calling out of the second increment to make good these shortages are several factors. Clothing and equipment is coming forward only at a rate that can meet the demands of the forces already called, and the railways of the country have been overburdened with the job of moving the army and its necessities without hindering freight shipments vital to the allies.

Fixing the date of the call for the second increment probably hinges also upon the careful study being made by Provost Marshal General Crowder and his assistants of the results of the plan followed in assembling the men called first. Many questions have arisen which it may be desired to avoid hereafter, and substitute regulations to guide both local and district boards, prepared in the light of what actual experience taught, may be issued to govern the second call.

It is considered certain that a new rule will be laid down for guidance of the local exemption boards in cases of married men. More complaints were received over these cases than all others combined, due to different interpretations of the regulations by the different boards.

Citizens of Adams County

Go to your bank and buy a Liberty Bond. Your country needs your aid and is now calling on you.

The soldier's duty is to fight—our's to keep him fit to fight. The nation needs your money, not as a gift, but to secure the moral lesson of your being back of your government in this righteous war, by taking part of its loan which is absolutely secure, bearing a per cent and non-taxable.

If you have not the ready money, you can subscribe and pay for same by installments. Heed the following editorial of a leading Philadelphia daily.

S. M. SVOPE,
Local Chairman Com.

Don't Be a Bond Slacker.

Your country is at war, not only against Germany, but against the forces of darkness and evil which are working for world slavery against the free people of the world.

Every man who does not go to the bank and buy a Liberty Bond is a traitor to the cause of the Treasury to buy bonds. Every man is expected to do so.

Only a few days are left. Don't put off your purchase. And after all, what is it you are asked to do? To give of your savings? Not a bit of it. You are not asked to contribute one cent to the government, but to invest your money in absolutely safe securities which will yield you a steady income of four per cent.

It is a plain business proposition which is entwined with patriotism.

LIBERTY LOAN DAY NAMED

PROCLAIMED BY PRESIDENT
WILSON ON OCTOBER 24TH.

The People Are Asked to Oversubscribe the New Loan as a Service of Patriotism.

The second Liberty Loan gives the people of the United States another opportunity to lend their funds to their Government to sustain their country at war. The might of the United States is being mobilized and organized to strike a mortal blow at autocracy in defense of outraged American rights and of the cause of liberty. Billions of dollars are required to arm, feed and clothe the brave men who are going forth to fight our country's battles and to assist the nations with whom we are making common cause against a common foe. To subscribe to the Liberty Loan is to perform a service of patriotism.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Wednesday, the twenty-fourth of October, as Liberty Day, and urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pledge to one another and to the Government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support.

On the afternoon of that day I request that patriotic meetings be held in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land, under the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan committees which have been organized by the Federal Reserve banks.

The people responded nobly to the call of the first Liberty Loan with an oversubscription of more than 50 per cent. Let the response to the second loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the fire of battle for us.

Let the result be so impressive and so patriotic that it will echo throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what America intends to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion.

For the purpose of participating in Liberty Day celebrations all employees of the Federal Government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock Wednesday, the twenty-fourth of October.

In witness whereof I have heretofore set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second.

By the President,
WOODROW WILSON.
ROBERT LANSING,
Secretary of State.

Prisoners Sentenced.

President Judge D. P. McPherson and Associate Judges W. Howard Dicks and E. P. Miller presided at the October argument court.

The question of opening and restating the five accounts in the estate of the late W. W. Hafer, of Abbottstown, was argued at length before the court. The restatement of the accounts is sought so that the income of the estate may be ascertained. The income was given to the widow, and it is alleged she should have enjoyed this income from time of death and not from a time a year later. The funds of the estate had been turned over to Trust Companies, and these were represented in the argument by Wilbur F. Sadler, of Carlisle, and William Brown, Esq., of Lancaster. John D. Keith, Esq., was urging a restatement of the accounts, contending that no one would be injured by a finding, that a part of the funds held in trust were in fact income.

Two prisoners were sentenced to the penitentiary.

Paul S. King, guilty of burglary, entering the movie picture theater of John L. Robinson in Littlestown and taking $15, was given an indeterminate sentence of not less than one year or more than two years.

William Yingling, of Littlestown, guilty of the larceny of chickens worth about $15 taken from Rev. F. S. Lindaman, Sarah Motter and Mrs. Rohrbach, was given a sentence of not less than one year or more than two years.

Harry S. Kime, guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and adding prisoners to escape, was sentenced to the Huntingdon Reformatory.

Joseph McMaster, guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

Lloyd Ackerman and Phyllis, alias "Bobbie" Ackerman, alias guilty of running a disorderly house and were given a fine of $100 and costs. Two of the girls caught in raid were fined $25 each.

Two others declared they had been in house but not found guilty, and had been induced to enter by promises of money here and there and a chance to play cards. They were released on their own recognizance.

The board of directors of the Hotel Pennsylvania, for the year ending December 31, 1917, has been elected. A. J. McCreary, president, and J. H. Ticer, vice president.

No addition to the streetcar improved. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Trostle, Baltimore street, have had as their guests during the past week a party from Maine composed of Lieut. Francis Wiggin and wife of Portland, Me. Mr. and Mrs. Rodrick Powers, of Fort Fairfield, Me.; Mrs. Grace L. Dyke and Mr. William Baker, of Dyke Mt. BANKING MOBILIZATION

STATE BANKS ASKED TO JOIN FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD.

This Movement Applies to a Third of the County's Institutions.

President Wilson this week sounded a call for the mobilization of all the nation's gold reserves under the supervision of the federal reserve board.

In a statement made public through the board, the president called upon all eligible non-member state banks and trust companies to join the federal reserve system without further delay that they may "contribute their share" to the consolidated gold reserves of the country and aid more effectively in "a vigorous prosecution and successful termination of the war."

Scores of such institutions have flocked to the system within the past three weeks, among them some of the largest trust companies of New York, Philadelphia and other cities. The movement to the federal reserve system has lacked only a final impelling force to assume the proportions of a landslide. Within less than three weeks, resources of such institutions in the system have risen from $1,200,000,000 to more than $2,600,000,000.

Liberty loan financing, the resultant activity in the money markets, the effect of the government's huge financial transactions upon the bond markets and the stock exchanges of the country have made it imperative in the view of the administration, for the federal reserve board to control not a major fraction of the gold reserve of the country but the entire amount. The recent embargo on gold exports has made it highly desirable that this control be acquired as speedily as possible.

With the board inactive, daily control of the country's huge store of gold, at present more than $3,000,000,000, watching every avenue through which it may be lessened and vigilant in its supervision of the country's banking activities, officials believe that the financial position of the country may be rendered as nearly impregnable as human skill can make it.

At present the board controls the activities of institutions representing only one-half of the country's total banking resources. The latest report of the comptroller of the currency places at several millions above sixteen billion dollars the resources of the banks within the system. Since that report was issued, however, nearly $1,500,000,000 in resources have been added through the acquisition of new members.

There are, however, between $500 and 900 eligible banks and trust companies, with resources estimated at from twelve to sixteen billion dollars, whose activities are entirely beyond the control of the federal government, being governed only by state laws. The president addressed himself to these institutions. His statement in part follows:

"It is manifestly imperative that there should be a complete mobilization of the banking reserves of the United States. All who are familiar with financial operations must appreciate the importance of developing to the maximum our banking power and of providing financial machinery adequate for meeting the very great financial requirements imposed upon our country by reason of the war."

Local Boys Arrive "Over There."

Word has been received by the families of Horace E. Smiley and Charles Robinson who are members of the 16th Bakery Company, and who have been in camp at Westfield, Mass., since leaving Gettysburg, that they have arrived safely "over there." The letter received by Mrs. Smiley told of her son's safe journey, that he was well, having a good time and plenty to eat, but bore no postmark indicating where it was posted.

Cablegrams have been received from Captain Paul R. Sieber, who is in charge of the Pittsburgh Detachment of Base Hospital Unit 27, and Lieut. Bender Cashman, also of Unit 27, telling of their safe arrival in France. Mrs. Cashman and daughter have closed their home in Pittsburgh and will spend some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Emery, in New Oxford.

Lieut. Merritt, who is a physician with the medical unit of the American forces abroad, has cabled the news of his safe arrival in France. Mrs. Merritt, formerly Miss Alice Neely, of Fairfield, and her young son, have arrived here from their home in Newry, S. C., and will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. John W. McMillan, Carlisle street, until Dr. Merritt returns.

Fortune Recalled.

The death of John F. Kuhn, of New Oxford, revealed the fact that he had accumulated a fortune that will likely amount to $25,000. He had hid in his clothes over $500 in cash and had bank certificates for over $13,000. He owned a home where he had lived alone for many years. The greater part of the fortune will go to his seven children.

The Communication Army

A bird's-eye view of the country today would show a mighty panorama of military and industrial activities.

Radiating from the National Capitol and from the army and navy centers throughout the land would appear the thousands of telephone lines by which all these vast enterprises are directed and co-ordinated—a veritable maze of wires linking together the camps, yards, fortifications, plants and offices, and swarming with line-men, cablemen and installers, busy with Uncle Sam's existing and ever-increasing demands for telephone service.

All this is but a part of the vast work which the Bell System is doing. The conservation of every resource will be required to keep pace with the constantly increasing demands for service, from both Government and private sources.

Join us in this patriotic service, by remembering that the more careful you are to make only telephone calls that are necessary and to confine your talks as much as possible, to the less busy hours of the day, the better we can meet the needs of the Nation.

ISLE OF SERPENTS

Roumania's Historic Little Rock In the Black Sea.

ONCE NEARLY CAUSED A WAR.

After the Crimean Treaty of Peace the Question of its Control Brought England and Russia to the Very Verge of Renewed Hostilities.

Less than thirty miles east of Sulina, the second important Black sea port of Roumania after Constanza, is the tiny Island of Serpents, around which cling many fantastic legends of fascinating interest as well as several historical episodes which at one time threatened to become of international moment, says the National Geographic Society bulletin.

Like the monotonous reaches of red, gravelly marshland which stretch for fifty miles along the Roumanian and Russian shores to the north and south of the Delta mouth of the Danube, the island attaining an elevation of no more than two feet above the level of the Black sea, the Island of Serpents, or Oilei, thrusts its precipitous cliffs into the water to heights ranging from fifty to a hundred feet. It is a rocky island in a sea whose depths few yards from the shore are shallow.

More than a mile long, the island has been a beacon point for the Danube for many centuries. Its location being in such a position as to the delta land of the Black sea.

In the old days it had a variety of uses, but the poets and travelers referred to it frequently as Lemnos, or the Isle of Serpents, on account of the numerous sea fowl which at certain seasons of the year swarmed over its cliffs.

It was to this island that Thetis, the marine goddess, is supposed to have carried the ashes of her son, Achilles; hence the temple erected here in honor of the hero of the Trojan war. Another legend relates that Thetis snatched the body of Achilles from the funeral pyre, that he was restored to life and that thereafter he lived on the island with Iphigenia, the daughter of Agamemnon, who had been saved from sacrifice by the goddess Artemis.

One of the most poetic descriptions of the island and its temple is given by Arrian in the account of his voyage around the Black sea in the second century of the Christian era. He wrote:

"It is related that Thetis gave this island to Achilles and that he still inhabits it. His temple and statue, both of very ancient workmanship, are seen there. No human being dwells on it. It has only a few goats, which mariners convey to it as votive offerings. Other offerings or sacred gifts are suspended in honor of Achilles, such as vases, rings and precious gems.

"Serpents, divers and fowl innumerable frequent the island, and the birds alone have the care of the shrine. Every morning they repair to the sea and, dipping their wings in the waves, sprinkle the temple and afterward sweep with their plumage its sacred pavement."

The name Island of Serpents grew out of the fact that numerous black-snakes from four to five feet long were discovered here by mariners. Many of the reptiles are said to have fallen in the cisterns of the island and poi-

WORRY DOES NO GOOD.

It Won't Bring You Health or Happiness or Another Job.

Worry is like a drug. It grows upon you. It gets to be a habit. It is insidious. It is dangerous. It is deadly. Worry saps the vitality. It makes you old. It brings wrinkles. It brings gray hairs. It brings ill health. Worry is an invention of the evil one.

You worry at the possibility of losing your work? Don't. You are suggesting unemployment to yourself. Suggestions frequently become realizations. If you suit your job and your job suits you why worry? Why think about it? Do your best in the position you occupy. Strive to do better, but don't worry because you appear to make no progress. All in good time. Nothing ever came by worry.

Should bad trade or such-like lead you to believe you may lose your position look out for another. If you do good, efficient work, as well as your competitor or better, why, you will probably secure just as good a position as the one you are worrying about.

You may be worrying over the health of a relation. What help will it be for you to worry yourself ill also? Is there reason or sense in it? Worry brings nothing good to pass, never did, never will.

Keep a brave front. Keep steadily on the march, whether you have any reserves to bring up or not. Why, if you forget the strain on your resources, forget your problems, forget your anxieties for a time, you will find on reconsideration that a quarter, maybe half, have disappeared.

As a friend of ours says: "Do the work; let the other fellow do the worrying." You will find plenty of people in the world doing enough worrying for two. Don't you do it.—Exchange.

WAR UPON INSECTS.

A Conflict That Sooner or Later the World Must Face.

A writer in an English journal has suggested that the next great war will be between man and the insect world. This war would be waged not only on insects that actually attack man himself, but also on all those winged or creeping things that are his enemies in less direct ways—those species that, to use the writer's phrase, "exist at the expense of human progress and happiness."

We all shudder with horror at the thought of a scorpion or of a centipede, although few of us ever see one of them, but we do not shudder enough at

CONDITION GERMANY FACES

LOSS OF MAN POWER 125,000 PER MONTH.

Some of the High Spots in the Present Conflict and What Germany May be Forced to Do.

Under the terrific and continuous onslaught of the allied armies Germany is losing her man-power at the rate of one hundred and twenty-five thousand per month.

Germany's ability to transfer troops from the eastern front to the western front to meet the big drives has been checked.

That technical warfare has worn her down is testified by the German staff. On the other hand the British and French armies have reached their full strength in men and material. America's army is yet to come.

Germany has engaged divisions in the last ten days of the British offensive at Ypres. Germany put twenty-five divisions in the action before Verdun and forty-five into the whirlwind of the allied steel battles of the Aisne.

The French high command to-day authorized these statements, based on official data from the French general staff.

After the publication of the above statement there loomed up the expression of the government's belief that Germany would probably by Easter make an unconditional surrender. This statement confirms Secretary Baker's statement that the German armies are just able to hold their own. They will be shattered by the first blow that America strikes. It is stated authoritatively that Germany's unconditional surrender before America strikes would not surprise Washington.

Some high spots are:—

Germans forced to maintain three times as many troops along Flanders and French fronts as in Eastern zone.

All picked troops taken from Russia and sent to reinforce Western lines while inferior soldiers are sent to the East.

Germany's reserves no longer able to keep pace with the losses and the class of 1918 and part of 1919 class already have been called to colors.

Crown Prince Rupprecht forced to engage 15 divisions against the British on Ypres sector during past ten days.

Fighting in Western zone of war never ceases, the fighting being discontinued at one point only to be resumed at another.

Germany still has great powers of resistance which will take all of the allied Powers to break, but her resources are diminishing at the moment when the situation requires that they increase.

British and French now have reached full strength and are capable, with the help of America, of maintaining their enormous strength which they have gained to the end of the war.

WHAT'S THE REASON?

Many Gettysburg People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause.

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills—endorsed by people all over the country and by your neighbors in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, 128 W. Middle St., Gettysburg, says: "My health was all run down, owing to disordered kidneys. I didn't sleep well. My back and head ached and I had dizzy spells and chills. Whenever I caught cold I felt worse. One of my relatives advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at the People's Drug Store. It didn't take them long to remove the trouble."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gilbert had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Markets of Paris.

The first markets of Paris were established more than a thousand years ago in the Isle de la Cite. The booths were hereditary property, and their descent was generally from mother to daughter, who held them directly from the monarch. During the stormy times of the revolution these market women were conspicuous by their qualities of arm and tongue, both grown strong by centuries of sturdy exercise. These characteristics, however, do not appear in their successors, who trust to their cleverness and coquettish charm to fight their battles.

Potato Skins.

The pared skin from one potato will furnish seed for planting five hills. These skins will keep a reasonable time without any preparation. If packed in common ashes the eyes will start to grow, and by planting near the surface of rich ground will mature from five to ten days ahead of whole potatoes planted. Every horticulturist knows this.—Charles Clifton Benedict, in New York Sun.

Weeds and Grass.

Do not burn weeds and grass if opportunity presents for turning such material into the soil. Nitrogen, that most precious of all fertilizing elements, is entirely lost in burning, and the ash of any substance is of little food value compared with the same organic matter decomposed in the soil.

Holland's Great Dike.

One of the great cities of Holland is forty miles from the sea, and in the country, near the Yssel river, and continuing across the IJssel to the sea. It was built in sections and for seven centuries has held back the waters from the low lying fields. It is forty feet broad at the base, thirty-five feet broad at the top, and its height varies from twenty-five to thirty-five feet.

Top and Bottom.

The chiropodist is a humble individual. In the profession he begins and is content to remain at the foot. The barber, on the contrary, is ambitious. He begins at the head and stays there.

Haste makes waste, and waste makes want, and want makes strife between the good man and his wife.

CONTROLL OF FOODSTUFFS

WILL BE TAKEN OVER BY THE GOVERNMENT NOV. 1.

President by Proclamation Shows How Control Will be Exercised.

Government control of foodstuffs is extended to take in virtually all the essential articles of diet by a proclamation issued by President Wilson directing the food administration to license after November 1, the manufacture, storage, importation and distribution of some twenty prime commodities. Many small dealers are exempted as are farmers, who were especially excepted in the food control law.

The move was forecasted in a statement by the food administration declaring it was necessary to prevent unreasonable profits and stop hoarding and speculation.

After quoting the food control act, under which the action is taken, the president's proclamation says:

"It is essential in order to carry into effect the purposes of said act to license the importation, manufacture, storage and distribution of necessities to the extent hereinafter specified.

"All persons, firms, corporations and associations engaged in the business either of (one) operating cold storage warehouse, for the purpose of this proclamation, being defined as any place artificially or mechanically cooled to or below a temperature of forty-five degrees Fahrenheit, in which food products are placed and held for thirty days or more; (two) operating elevators, warehouses or other places for storage of corn, oats, barley, beans, rice, cotton seed, cotton seed cake, cotton seed meal or peanut meal; or (three) importing, manufacturing (including milling, mixing or packing); or distributing (including buying or selling) any of the following commodities:

"Retailers whose gross sales of food commodities do not exceed $100,000 per annum.

"Applications for the license must be made to the United States Food Administration, Washington, D. C., law department, before the license is issued, and the license shall be in full force and effect from the date of its issuance.

Uncle Sam Needs 10,000 Stenographers and Typewriters at Once.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20, 1917.—Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the Departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers. While examinations are now held weekly in 450 cities, the Commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held at any accessible place where a small class of applicants can be secured. The entrance salaries range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to serve your country. Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the post office in your city.

Our Toes Endangered.

The present extremely high heels worn by the majority of American women, both old and young, mean deformity of the feet.

X-ray pictures indicating the relation of the toes to the ground when they are encased in these high-heeled shoes, show that women are walking on the ends of their five toes. There is food for thought in the fact that the horse nowadays walks on a foot consisting of one toe, while in the more primitive animal there were three or five toes.

The shape of the natural foot of man has a great variety of uses and it is one of the things that has helped to place him first in the life of the earth. The natural foot has been one of the anatomical facts that has helped him to his present high state of efficiency. The form of that foot has enabled him to become a good hunter, a good farmer, a good sailor, a good soldier—in fact, anything he has found it necessary through the ages to become, or finds now essential for the war we are fighting to continue our personal liberty.

Let the butterfly girls and the other high heeled old and young women stop and realize the value of the normal foot of man. Let them cut off the high heel and substitute the natural level. This might also work out to the interest of direct economy by using the surplus heel to make thicker soles on the shoes, which would be very sensible and practicable for the climate we have in Pennsylvania.

Let us recognize the models of Nature which have lead us to success. If man's foot had been abused for an indefinite time in a way to have reduced it to a one-toed foot, resembling the horse's, he would have a hard time trying to fulfill his present duties in life. The high heel represents the fashion for the women of to-day and means a great discounting of the value of mankind, particularly if it is continued a long time. The present high heel is not only torturous, but of great injury to the health. The mother must remember that she is partly responsible for the feet of her children and that if she wants them to have normal, strong feet she must keep them naturally shod.—Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M.D., LL.D., D.Sc., Commissioner of Health.

KEEPING COOL IN ADEN.

Coolies Pull the Ropes and the Ropes Work the Big Fans.

Electric current for fans is not generally available in Aden, Arabia, and the old fashioned punkah system is the only relief from the almost unbearable heat and closeness of the atmosphere which prevails at certain seasons of the year. A punkah is a large ceiling fan operated by a cooly, who pulls a rope attached to it. This rope generally passes over a small pulley through a hole in the wall, so that the cooly may work unseen by those in the room to be ventilated.

Often a series of fans is operated by one cooly, this system prevailing in hotels, clubs and other places where there is a large room to be cooled. The actual cooling effect is usually considered more satisfactory than that of an electrically operated fan in the respect that the air currents are more gentle and much more evenly distributed.

A punkah walla, as the cooly who operates it is called, receives in Aden an average wage of $3.50 per month for working from eight to nine hours a day. However, during the hot season, when it is desirable to have the punkah in operation night and day, a force of three punkah wallas, working eight hours each, is necessary, and the punkah becomes somewhat expensive.—Scientific American.

Indications of Long Life.

A long lived person, it is said, may be distinguished at sight from a short lived one. The primary conditions of longevity are that the heart, lungs and digestive organs, as well as the brain, shall be large. If these organs are large, the person will be long and the likelihood of a short life is small. The person will also have a long and somewhat heavy palm, with short fingers. The brain will be deeply placed, as shown by the low position of the forehead. The blue, brown or hazel eye is a favorable indication. The nostrils, if large, open and free, indicate long life. A pinched and half closed nostril indicates small or weak lungs. These are general points of distinction, but are, of course, subject to the usual individual exceptions.—Exchange.

SILENT AND DARING

Secret Service Agents Who Do the Work of Uncle Sam.

THEY LIVE DODGING DEATH.

Known Only to the State Department and Listed on the Private Records Only by Numbers, Their Brave Deeds Never Win Them Public Honors.

The secret service of the United States government, that little band of men who are known only to the state department and whose names appear in the secret archives of the United States as "A-11" or "C-2173," live lives that for adventure and heroism make the average "best seller" hero look like a tarnished imitation.

So little is known by the general public of the secret agents of our government that to the average person it seems probable no such body of men exists. As a matter of fact, the vast majority of the citizens of the country seem to think the secret service, which in reality is attached to the treasury department, is intrusted with diplomatic work of the "underground" order.

This, however, is not the case. Although it is the duty of the secret service and the department of justice operatives to run down plots of different kinds that are brewing almost continuously within the confines of our own borders, they are sent out of the country only on special occasions or when a cloud on a foreign horizon seems to warrant the mission.

In far off Russia, in China, Japan, Germany, France, England, South America, and, in fact, every inhabited part of the globe, there flits the diplomatic phantom—the "secret agent."

How many times he has intercepted such documents as the Zimmermann note will probably never be known outside of diplomatic circles, but that particular feat is a good example of the work done by these "wadhldges of the mist." Using fictitious names and numbers, I will outline their work.

When the war broke out in Europe, broke with all the suddenness of a furious thunderstorm, it was no surprise to those engaged in the great game of "dodging death." In Berlin a dapper youth of decided Teutonic appearance, listed under our own banner as "E-45," was fully alive to what was doing and kept Washington posted.

On the Russian border Ivan Muscovitz, whose reports were signed with another number and letter, straightway informed Washington of the Russian preparations, while in France and England Andre Le Rene and Cyril Frothingham respectively reported the doings of these two great nations.

The youth of Teutonic appearance is killed by a taxicab, plainly an accident, yet the taxicab had followed the Teutonic youth many blocks and was in all probability driven by a decrepit old chauffeur, who was known to Wilhelmstrasse as N-97-631 and who had received notification of the Teutonic youth's activity in the vicinity of some district of military importance.

So died the Teutonic youth. On the register at Washington "E-45" is crossed off as dead, and "E-X" rushes from Dresden to take his place. The Teutonic youth is an American, born and raised, fighting to protect his country, but, even knowing that his life is in continual danger, he can make no appeal for aid. He has done his duty. He is dead.

A "secret agent" is a secret agent in all that the word implies. He must serve his country in silence. He may do braver deeds than those accomplished by the soldier or sailor in battle, but the world cannot know of them. No decoration graces his breast, no honors are thrust upon him by an admiring public, yet he continues on his perilous way doing his duty, a man without a country, who is invaluable to the nation, but yet one whom the nation cannot recognize.

Often French, American and British secret agents work hand in hand. The Frenchman may discover while doing some work for his own government that there is a plot being hatched for a German invasion of the United States through Mexico. He passes the information along to the British and American agents.

Suddenly a fleet of British and American warships get sailing orders. They depart, "destination unknown." There is no invasion.

The American may uncover a message of vast importance to France. His friend, Paul Ledoque, has worked often with him. Paul shall know.

And so it goes on, the never ceasing state of activity throughout the world. Men come and go, come full of the enthusiastic desire to do for the best interests of the nation, and so by the more violent yet expected route of "sudden death."

Take one, unhonored and unrewarded, they play with death as you play with your own particular amusement, accomplish their ends by any means in their power, not guarding the nation from more dangers than you ever dreamed could exist.—Memphis Commercial-Appal.

WEEK OF FATAL ACCIDENTS

SOLDIER KILLED IN AN AUTO-MOBILE WRECK.

Contractor Dies from Injuries from Fall—Brakeman Cut in Two.

Daniel Richardson, of Co. B, 60th Infantry, whose home is at Milwaukee, Wis., was instantly killed in an auto accident early last Saturday morning, Oct. 13, between 1:30 and 2:00 o'clock at the grade crossing of the Western Maryland railroad in New Oxford. A party of four soldiers from the Gettysburg camp were returning from York in a Ford automobile driven by Krout and owned by Charles Frostle, of this place. A member of the party said they had attended a show in York and that the party was sober. Several explanations were suggested for the accident, one being that one or more flat cars were ahead of the 34th car, the one into which the auto crashed, so that at a short distance it looked as though the way was clear at the sky line. It is further said that as the auto came toward the crossing the driver cut off the power and this dimmed the lights of the machine so as to add to the difficulties of observation. The auto was going at a good speed but not at as high a speed as at first intimated as there were no traces of skidding in the road.

A warning by one of the soldiers caused Krout to swing the auto to the right but this was too late to prevent the machine crashing into the freight and the entire side of the auto was practically torn to pieces. The freight was traveling toward Hanover from Gettysburg. It had been standing at the New Oxford crossing for a short time and had just gotten under way before the accident occurred. When the auto hit the 34th car the soldier, Richardson, on the rear seat back of Krout, was thrown head foremost against the car and he was crushed with skull fractured between auto and the train. One of the soldiers jumped and escaped and the other two were bruised and cut but their injuries were not serious. The body of Richardson and the other soldiers were brought to camp.

The Krout boy was seriously injured and was picked up in an unconscious condition and after receiving treatment from Dr. Geo. H. Seaks was taken to the York Hospital. He had bruises on the wrist and injured about the head. He bled profusely from the right ear. Last reports from the hospital indicate his recovery.

John W. Topper, a Baltimore contractor, died at the Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, Monday night, following injuries received by a fall while working at Camp Meade, four weeks ago. The deceased was 40 years of age. Mr. Topper was a son of the late Joseph and Mary Topper, and was born and spent his early life near Fairfield. Twenty years ago he went to Baltimore, where he started business as a building contractor. He leaves his wife, who was Miss Ada Badger, of Baltimore, and seven children; also the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. D. H. Sneeringer and Charles Topper, of Hanover; Mrs. Robert Sprengle, of East Berlin; Mrs. Vincent Orendorff, of Bonneauville; Mrs. John Dick, of Granite Station; Mrs. John Spangler, Mrs. I. H. T. Rummel, and Mrs. Eliza Swisher, of Gettysburg; George Topper, of Baltimore; Mrs. Rebecca Martin and Miss Rosie Topper, of Lancaster.

Charles E. Ehrhart, a Pennsylvania freight brakeman, slipped from the top of a railroad box car on his way to the engine of the train and fell to the tracks, the wheels of the train passing over the body cut in two at the chest. The last time that Ehrhart was seen alive was when he was eating lunch in the cabin shortly before the accident. He had started towards the front of the train, and it is believed that a new pair of shoes which he was wearing caused him to slip on the roof of one of the cars near the engine. A watch in his clothing stopped at 11:30 o'clock, and it is thought that this is the time of the accident, on last Saturday evening. He was 23 years of age and leaves a wife and a 20-months-old child living in York. The body was taken to Littlestown where interment was made.

Miss Kate McCreary died at her home on West Middle street on Monday morning, ten days short of her 75th birthday. She had been visiting relatives and returning home found it chilly and contracted a cold which quickly developed into pneumonia, and in a week the end had come. She was the last member of her immediate family, that of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith McCreary, but she was the last of all the branches of the families of that name living in this place. Miss Kate McCreary was a good woman, self-sacrificing, devoting the greater part of her life to the care of a sister. She was a member of Christ Lutheran Church and had been active in church work, the Missionary Society being one of the objects of her solicitation. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, the services being conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. E. Wagner, and interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery. A number of nieces and nephews living elsewhere are the surviving relatives.

John Allen Eicholtz died at his home on Chambersburg street Thursday, aged 35 years, 5 months and 10 days. He was a son of Mrs. Laura V. Eicholtz of Steinwehr avenue, and the late Samuel Eicholtz. He lived many years at the edge of town on the Carlisle road. He served a portion of an enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps, being stationed for some time in the Philippines, and was discharged from the service on account of physical disability. He represented the American Wringer Company several years. He was a member of the Masonic Order and Fraternal Order of Eagles. He did not have robust health for some years and became ill last week, lapsed into unconsciousness on Tuesday and on Wednesday an operation was performed in an effort to save his life. The cause of death was said to be meningitis. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his mother's home.

Noah Fleck died at his home in Mummasburg Monday aged 60 years. He followed farming for many years in Franklin township. He was a Democrat and served his party several years as a county committeeman. He is survived by his father and step-Miss Sadie Kime, of Arendtsville, and two sisters, Mrs. William E. Hart, of Hanover, and Mrs. D. L. Jacobs of Biglerville. The funeral was held Thursday morning with services by Rev. Koser, interment in the Arendtsville Cemetery.

Mrs. Louise Keffer, widow of the late Francis X. Keffer, died at McSherrystown on Wednesday, Oct. 10, aged 72 years, 11 months and 15 days. Mrs. Keffer was born in Germany, coming to America when a girl of 8 years. With her foster parents she lived in Abbottstown, later going to New Oxford where she was married. Mr. and Mrs. Keffer moved to McSherrystown from Bonneauville, thirty years ago. Her husband died in September, 1912. Seven children survive: Mrs. William Wagaman, Mrs. Robert Neiderer, C. Fred Keffer, Frank A. Keffer and J. William Keffer, of McSherrystown. Andrew Keffer and Miss Louise Keffer at home. Funeral was held on Saturday, Oct. 13th, with high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Dr. L. Aug. Reudter, interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Charles Gladfelter died Sunday at the York Hospital following an operation for an abscess of the lungs on August 20. He was aged about 34 years. The remains were taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Anna Livingston, of near York Springs. He is survived by his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gladfelter, of York Springs, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Livingston. The funeral was held Wednesday from the Lutheran Church at York Springs by Rev. Mr. Gladfelter, and interment in the Lutheran Cemetery, Abbottstown.

Jacob A. Evans died last Wednesday afternoon at the family residence at D. & M. Junction, where he had resided for some time. Death was due to a complication of diseases, from which he suffered about four years. Mr. Evans was about 66 years old and is survived by his wife, two sons, George F., of Harvey, Ill., and Robert, of York, and a daughter, Mrs. Edward Ervin, near Dillsburg; also by three step-children, Mrs. J. A. Lentz, of York Springs; W. D. Brougher, of Dillsburg, and R. W. Brougher, of Lemoyne; two brothers, Andrew, of York, and David, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and four sisters, Miss Celista Evans, of Harrisburg; Mrs. William Rentzel, and Mrs. Jane Erb, of Reading, and Miss Sarah Evans, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

Frederick C. Clay, ball-player and Spanish-American War veteran, died at his home in York last Tuesday night. Death was due to a leaking heart. He was 42 years old. He was a native of Baltimore, but resided in York at intervals the past fifteen years. Clay first came into prominence as a ball player while playing with the Gettysburg College team and McSherrystown team. From there he went to York and played on that team which was later taken into the Tri-State League. While at Gettysburg he was a catcher, and was one of the first men to go behind the bat for Eddie Plank. He also played with Chambersburg and Gettysburg in the Blue Ridge League in 1916. Later he went to the Trenton team when it was a Tri-State team, where he played two seasons. He played with the Philadelphia Nationals, the St. Louis team of the American Association, the Louisville Americans, Fitchburg, Mass., Meridan, Conn., Reading and the Kansas City team. Three years ago he retired actively from the diamond and since then has been engaged in the fish and produce business in York, a business he has followed during the winter months for a number of years.

James David Wilkinson died at his home in Butler township, near Biglerville, Wednesday morning from pneumonia aged 49 years, 6 months and 23 days. MAKE YOUR MONEY WIN THE WAR!

OVER in France are thousands of Uncle Sam's Boys in Khaki, and hundreds of thousands more will soon be there. That's their place on the Battle Line. They are fighting for you.

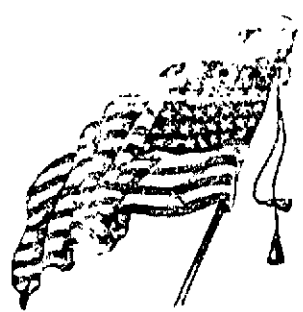

You have not worked to the beat of drums. You have not "sought the great prize of death in battle." But you can help tremendously--now--and show the Boys in Khaki that you are fighting for them in the Fields, or in the Factory, just as they are fighting for you in the Trenches.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS. Enlist every dollar you can raise to fight alongside your Sons, Brothers and Neighbors, who are bearing the brunt of your battle in FRANCE.

The greatest service your dollars can render is but little compared with that of the boys who wear UNCLE SAM'S Uniform. They are staking their lives. But you in Buying Liberty Bonds, are taking no chance, for Liberty Bonds, bearing interest at four per cent, are the best and safest investment you can make.

The dollar in your pocket is no more sound than a Liberty Bond. The Government is back of both. In fact, a Liberty Bond is even better than money, for money can never be worth more than one hundred cents on the dollar, while Liberty Bonds are just the same as cash and at the same time pay you $4 a year interest on every $100 Bond.

POTATO WEEK OCT. 22 TO 27

SUGGESTED BY THE U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

A Potato Dish for Each Day of the Week is Presented to the Nation.

Three purposes will be accomplished by a nation-wide potato week in which every one will make a special effort to eat potatoes during the week from October 22 to 27, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The first of these purposes is to encourage the eating of the tubers because at that time it is expected that potatoes will be the most available and economical staple food; the second is to save wheat during this period; and the third is to encourage the general use of potatoes as a wheat substitute by the American householder.

It is proposed that consumers make a special effort to eat potatoes in different ways, recipes for which can be obtained from the home economics departments of the various state colleges or agricultural, or from the United States Department of Agriculture. It is not suggested that this potato week will of itself have much effect on the potato situation, but it should call the attention of the people to the fact that there is a plentiful supply which should be used in domestic commerce, leaving the more readily transported grains for export trade. In shipping potatoes about four-fifths of the weight is water; in shipping wheat only one-eighth is moisture.

The department does not claim any originality for the idea of a potato week. The same plan has been in effect for a number of years in respect to raisins, for which there is a national raisin day, established through extensive advertising by the raisin industry of California. The same thing has been done in respect to oranges by the citrus-fruit associations. The purpose of the days is to increase the general consumption of these products by acquainting the people with their food value.

A Potato Dish for Each Day of Week

It is said that potatoes may be cooked in more ways than any other vegetable, and a score or more variations are within the knowledge of any good hotel chef. Seven ways, one for each day of the week, beginning with Monday's, Tuesday's, and Wednesday's dinners, through Thursday's lunch, Friday's dinner, Saturday's lunch and Sunday's supper are here given.

Stuffed Potatoes—(Monday). Cut baked potatoes in half, remove the pulp, mash it, add enough milk for the usual consistency of mashed potatoes, and season with butter, salt, and pepper. Fill the baked skins with this mixture, dot the tops with butter and bake for eight or ten minutes in a hot oven. To vary this add to mashed potatoes, before the skins are filled, any one of the following: beaten white of egg (1 egg to 3 medium-sized potatoes); grated cheese (1-2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); chopped meat (1-2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); chopped parsley (1 tablespoonful to 3 medium-sized potatoes).

Scalloped Potatoes—(Tuesday) Use raw, thinly sliced potatoes in layers, each layer to be sprinkled with flour, butter, pepper, salt; lastly pour in just enough milk to be seen through the top layer, and then bake for about an hour, or until the potatoes are tender. This may be varied by adding, in layers, hard-boiled egg, sliced; grated cheese; or minced ham.

Boiled Potatoes—(Wednesday) Select potatoes of uniform size; wash them with a brush; and plunge them into boiling salted water (1 teaspoonful salt to 1 quart water). Cook them with the cover of kettle ajar, until tender from twenty to thirty minutes. Drain the potatoes; remove the skins; dress the potatoes with butter if desired; and serve them immediately. If it is necessary for the potatoes to stand a few minutes before being served, cover them with a cloth, not a lid, in order that the steam as it condenses may be absorbed by the cloth and not returned to potatoes to make them soggy. This is the reason for serving potatoes in an uncovered dish. The potatoes may be sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Potato Salad—(Thursday, from Wednesday's left-overs). Six cold potatoes, four tablespoonfuls salad oil or malted butter, two tablespoonfuls vinegar, 1-2 tablespoonful salt, cayenne pepper, two tablespoonfuls chopped parsley, few drops onion juice.

Cut the potatoes in one-half inch cubes. Make a dressing by mixing thoroughly the other ingredients. Pour this dressing over the potatoes, and allow them to stand for fifteen minutes. Drain off any dressing that may not have been absorbed by the potatoes. Garnish the salad with sprigs of parsley and serve with cream dressing or mayonnaise. To the salad may be added any of the following: one cupful chopped celery, two cucumbers, chopped, or two hard-boiled eggs, chopped, or as a garnish, sliced.

Mashed potatoes may be shaped roughly mash cooked potatoes. Add four tablespoonfuls of hot milk, one tablespoonful of butter, and a little salt and pepper, to each pint of potatoes. Beat the mixture with a fork until light and pile it lightly in a hot serving dish.

Mashed potatoes may be shaped into small cakes. Brown them in a frying pan in a small amount of hot fat. Mix with boiled codfish, or canned salmon, for fish cakes.

Potato Soup—(Saturday, from Friday's left-overs). Two cupfuls hot rice or mashed potatoes, one quart milk, two slices onion, three tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one and one-half tablespoonfuls salt, celery salt, pepper, cayenne, one teaspoonful chopped parsley.

Scald the milk with the onion; remove the onion; add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt the butter; add to it the dry ingredients; stir the mixture until it is well blended. Add this to the liquid mixture, stirring constantly, and boil the soup for one minute. Strain if necessary, add the parsley, and serve.

Potato Biscuit—(Sunday, from Friday's or Saturday's left-overs). One cupful mashed potatoes, one cupful flour, four teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1-2 teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful lard, milk, about 1-2 cupful.

Sift the dry ingredients. Add these to the potatoes, mixing with a knife. Work the fat into this mixture lightly. Add gradually enough milk to make a soft dough. Toss the dough onto a floured board and roll it lightly to one-half inch in thickness. Cut it into shape with a biscuit cutter. Place the biscuits on greased pans and bake twelve to fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Steer Feeders' Excursion.

The Adams County Farm Bureau is arranging a steer feeders' excursion to Lancaster county on October 29. The purpose of the excursion is, first to visit the Lancaster County Stock Yards, which are the largest east of Chicago, and second, to attend the steer feeders' demonstration on one of the Lancaster county farms in the afternoon.

Lancaster county annually feeds between seventy and eighty thousand head of cattle. The Lancaster County Stock Yards are the source and supply not only for Lancaster county but for all neighboring counties. On Monday of this week there were received and sold on the Lancaster market in the neighborhood of four hundred car loads of cattle. So a trip alone to this great cattle market is entirely worth while.

The Lancaster County Farm Bureau every year holds a steer feeders' campaign for the benefit of the steer feeders of that county. Experiments at Pennsylvania State College, as well as feeding records from a number of Lancaster county farmers show the importance of economical feeding systems. Feeder steers are higher than they were ever known to be before, in fact, steers to be used in feed lots now are higher than fat cattle were two years ago. Grains and other fat producing concentrates have increased in price to almost unheard of sources and only the most economical feeding methods will produce net profits.

Under present conditions meat production is a patriotic duty and to keep our patriotism at its highest level, losses must be reduced to a minimum. There is no animal on the farm which converts such a high percentage of food nutrients into marketable commercial products as the hog. Feeding of hogs goes hand in hand with that of steers. These lines of discussion will be taken up at the steer feeders' meeting by Prof. W. H. Tomhave, State College, Dr. H. H. Hayner, State College, F. S. Dreher, Lancaster County Farm Agent and one or two others.

These steer feeding meetings have been held in Lancaster county and have always been well attended. Lancaster county farmers have always been known as being very conservative but at the same time if they can be shown that a proposition means dollars to them they will co-operate quite readily. Last year a series of twelve meetings were held with an average attendance of forty. So let every Adams county farmer who can arrange to do so take the trip. Rub elbows with your Lancaster county neighbor and exchange ideas with him. Final arrangements will be announced the latter part of next week and in the meantime decide that you will go and influence your neighbors to go with you. At the same time notify H. F. Hershey, Farm Bureau, Gettysburg, so that arrangements can be made accordingly.

ARENDSVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hughes and daughter of Baltimore, Md., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hughes last week.

The chestnut crop is short in this section owing to the blight to the trees.

Mervin Schloesser, who collided with an auto truck several days ago, and was thrown from his bicycle, was badly shocked and received several cuts and bruises in his face and head. Dr. W. G. Rickell dressed the wounds and he is out and about again.

Owing to the several heavy frosts during the past four weeks the trees and shrubbery show the autumn tint and the surrounding country looks delightful.

Harry Eyster, of Harrisburg, spent a few days last week with his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Eyster. Dr. M. W. Low and wife, of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Alice Diehl, of York, and Mr. and Mrs. Frey and daughter, of Philadelphia, were visiting last week among old friends here.

J. B. Spahr and daughter, Mrs. Greenawalt, and her son Kenneth, of Youngstown, Ohio, spent several days here last week among old acquaintances. Mr. Spahr left this place 24 years ago and moved to York, Pa., but since the death of his wife recently, he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Greenawalt.

Commencing November 2nd, the rate of postage on letters will be 3 cents, postal cards 2 cents; a 1 cent stamp will have to be placed on the card to equal 2 cents.

Turkeys are not plenty in this section and those that have any to sell will get high prices.

Nation-Wide Preparedness

North, South, East, West—all working to put the Nation in fighting trim!

Army and Navy departments and districts, camps, yards, coast-guard stations, light houses, munition, construction and textile plants—all co-ordinating to mould the vast organization into an effective homogeneous force! And in this enormous task the country's telephone network has been and will continue to be the great indispensable agent of communication.

The Bell System has enlisted every resource at its command and offered all unreservedly to the Government.

This, together with the immensely increased commercial demand for service, the general shortage of materials, and the enlistment and draft of a large number of technically trained employees who cannot be replaced, will, it is hoped, be borne in mind by every loyal American if there should later result the necessity for subordinating private convenience to the pressing needs of the Government.

CARE OF THE HOME GARDEN.

How to Get Good Results With Either Flowers or Vegetables.

Never permit the surface of the soil in the garden to form a crust. Constant stirring with hand tools or a wheel cultivator should be practiced between the rows and about the plants. This permits air to penetrate the soil, where it facilitates chemical action and bacterial activity, destroys weeds which would utilize large amounts of plant food that the cultivated plants require, and finally it conserves the moisture supply. The hoe and the rake are most generally used for this purpose. This advice applies with equal force to both the flower and vegetable gardens.

Where plants are grown closely in the rows it will be necessary to weed between the plants by hand. Small implements are made for this purpose and are sold at a trifling price.

Cultivating should be done after every rain, but not until the water has drained off and the soil is in workable condition. Working in muddy soil will cause it to form a cement-like mass, in which plant food will be securely locked, and the plants will suffer because it is not released for their support.

As soon as the excess moisture has run off or soaked in or partially evaporated, cultivation should be given to prevent the crust which otherwise will form. A crust formed on the surface of the soil restricts the plants, causes excess evaporation and the loss of moisture required by the plants and prevents access of air.

During dry spells, if the plants give evidence of suffering for the lack of moisture, water should, if possible, be supplied artificially. The usual method in small gardens is sprinkling with a hose. Late in the afternoon is the best time to sprinkle, when a thorough wetting should be given. Small furrows can be opened between the rows of plants and water turned into these ditches from the hose. After the water has soaked in draw the earth back in place.—New York Sun.

THE SOUL OF AMERICA.

Hugo Munsterberg's Own Story of His First Glimpse of It.

In the Century is published the one completed chapter in the unfinished autobiography of Hugo Munsterberg. The first delighted impressions of the young German professor are of especial interest since in the twenty-five years following he strove to interpret Germany to America, America to Germany.

"I remember as if it were yesterday our first Cambridge party. At the threshold of the new academic year Professor Norton and his family had invited some scores of friends to greet the new professors. It had been heralded to us as the chief festival event of the Cambridge season. The quaint, dignified home on the hill was dimly illumined by the mellow light of a few shaded lamps. There was some coffee and some lemonade, a few tiny brown bread sandwiches and, I think, some ice cream.

"I had not dined at home that night in the expectation of the glorious feast, with an abundance of courses and wines as at such evening parties in Germany, and yet when we drove home from Study Hall my wife and I felt a certain satisfaction such as that parties had ever given us before. We felt as if we had entered a truly spiritual community where the demand for high thinking and plain living was the life instinct.

"Where was that shallow and gaudy America, that vulgar and trivial America, that corrupt and self seeking America, that noisy and sensational America, of which all Europe was talking? Had no one ever discovered the true soul of the American people?"

Don't Snub the Boy.
Don't snub a boy because of his physical disability. Milton was blind. Don't snub a boy because he chooses a humble trade. The author of "Pilgrim's Progress" was a tinker.

Don't snub a boy because his home is plain and unpretending. Abraham Lincoln's early home was a log cabin.

Don't snub a boy because of the ignorance of his parents. Shakespeare was the son of a man who was unable to write his own name.

Don't snub a boy because he wears shabby clothes. When Edison first entered Boston he wore a pair of yellow linen breeches, although it was in the depth of winter.—Irish World.

Quite Experienced.
The port elevator boy in the big hotel was airing his views to a passenger on the proper conduct of children.

"What do you know about it?" laughed the passenger. "You're not married, are you?"

"Well, no," replied the boy, as he flung open the gate on the top floor for his passenger to step out, "but I brought a good many families up in my time."

Beauty.
A poetess asks, "Oh, where does beauty linger?" We think that we are breaking no confidence when we reply that in these artistic times it generally lingers on the toilet table until the girl puts it on with a brush and a powder puff.—London Tit-Bits.

The Psalter.
Among the instruments of the band which played before Nebuchadnezzar's golden image on the plains of Babel was the psalter, a stringed instrument (Daniel iii, 5, 10, 15).

Preparedness.
Visitor—Have your employees had any experience in military training? Employer—Well, most of them have been soldiering on the job for years.—Puck.

He Went.
He (11 p. m. at the piano)—What shall I sing next? She—"Home, Sweet Home," without any variations.—Puck.

Falsehood is like a nettle, because it usually stings those who venture to meddle with it.

The Practical Girl.
He—You are the prettiest girl I ever saw. She—That sounds all right, but I don't know how much the compliment is worth until you tell me how many pretty girls you have seen.

Sad Fate.
"I hear Adele has gone into comic opera."
"There was always something supremely sad about the girl."—Life.

TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS.

First Find the Kind of Work to Which You Are Best Suited.

A friend of mine who is as good a man in his line as anybody in the United States stood in my office a few days ago and said a surprising thing. I had been complimenting him on one of his latest achievements. His face lighted up as he remarked: "Of course I got a lot of money for that job; but, between you and me, I'd do these things for nothing if I couldn't get anybody to pay me for them. I'd rather do them than eat. It's a shame to take the money. Don't give me away, or they'll be asking me to cut down my price, and I'll be doing it."

That sounds like bunk. But wait a minute. Think clear through the proposition. This man will never be cutting down his price at all. It is exactly the other way around with him, and he knows it. The truth is that his income goes on rising, because those he works for keep bidding for his services. What he meant was that he has found the secret of progress and enjoyment—namely, a field of activity to which he is suited and in which he is so interested and happy that he works as if he were playing. No wonder he performs miracles!

Naturally he is glad to have the large sums of money he earns. They are a sort of crude measurement of his efficiency. They show in a rough way how other people estimate his value. But the main point is that he has found his niche and that he concentrates on his job for days and weeks at a stretch. All his thought is concerned with what he can put into his work, not what he can get out of it. Lucky man!

The moral is simply this: Don't fake for years and years an interest in something that bores you. Don't pretend all your life, for the sake of fancied appearances, to enjoy some form of work that you really dislike. Of course you should give yourself a fair trial at a job before throwing it up, because often a man learns to like something that he didn't like when he set out. But you know what I mean—don't keep at it indefinitely. Quit and try something else. Cut and run before it is too late.

The acid test to apply to your job is this: If you had money enough to live on would you stay at it without pay? If you don't love it that much hunt for another—that is, if you are young and free from the responsibilities and obligations which govern older men. The greatest successes of the world are "crazy" about their work. Look at Edison. Look at Paderewski. How those men enjoy their jobs! Can anybody imagine that they love money more than work? And yet each, because of his jealous devotion to his work, has been richly paid in money. Both men are great artists. They have found what they wanted to do and stuck to it. Treat yourself as if you were an artist. To a certain extent you probably are in some line if you will avoid shams and give yourself fully to your job.—American Magazine.

Chest Expansion.
Men and women can increase their lung power—chest expansion it can be called technically—by five minutes' exercise morning and night. Stand up straight on the balls of the feet, head thrown back, and inhale deeply, first inflating the lower part of the lungs, and then the upper. Leave the air out of the lungs slowly, letting the chest sink first. Do this fifteen times morning and night, and the average person will be immune from colds and catarrhs.

How to Tell the German Flag.
The flag of Germany used in every place except on a battleship is composed of three broad stripes, red, white and black, which run the full length of the flag. No other mark distinguishes it. The flag used on a German battleship is white with two black stripes the length and width of the flag, making a large cross and three small black, white and red stripes and a small cross in the upper left hand corner.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Garden Paths.
Have all garden paths with some plants of fragrance growing alongside. In some gardens of larger size special fragrant pathways are built where they appear to pass through thickets redolent with pleasant odors. But every path may easily have enough fragrance to keep the mind unconsciously in the garden spirit.

Tense Faces.
Many women allow their faces to become tense and set and then wonder why lines develop. Relax the muscles, cultivate a pleasant expression and remember that lips which curve upward and smile are much more attractive than the drooping sort.—Pittsburgh Press.

"I have hopes. It's about time for some new advertisement to be painted on the billboards out my way."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"GLAD RAG" THE CORPULENT TRAMP

HE HUNTED FOR BUSINESS

A Story With a Moral

By F. A. MITCHEL

I was born in the country, the son of a farmer who supposed that I would follow in his footsteps behind the plow. But I had other tastes. I insisted on going to college and while there was obliged to hustle to make most of the money to put me through. On being graduated from college I desired to study law. That meant several years more of self support while studying for admission to the bar. But if a young man has the energy to make his way while getting his education it is pretty likely that he will have the will power to make his way in the world when he gets his profession. If I was not a hard student of the law it was because I was obliged to spend so much time in making the wherewithal to exist.

When I had been graduated from the law school I hung out my shingle and waited for clients. By waiting for clients I don't mean that I did nothing to secure business. I read the newspapers carefully, especially legal news with regard to estates, wills, transfers, of real estate—anything that might give me a tip to where I could get myself a case. For I don't believe in young men who strike out for themselves professionally holding their light under a bushel.

One day I saw in a newspaper a notice of the death of Edward Girard, a wealthy man. It stated that the deceased left no family. A niece had lived with him for several years and had taken care of him during his last illness. Not long after this I saw a statement that the personal effects of Edward Girard, the deceased, would be sold at auction from his late residence.

I desired to obtain a desk for my office and thought at this sale I might secure a bargain, so I went to the house for the purpose. There was but one desk put up, and that was one that had been made in colonial times. I was obliged to pay a good price for it, but I was bound to get it, and I outbid every one else. A young lady was present who I was told was the niece of Mr. Girard mentioned in the newspaper item. She seemed very much depressed. My informant said it had been supposed that she would inherit her uncle's property, but he had died very suddenly and had no time to make a will, therefore his estate would be divided among nearly a hundred relatives who were heirs-at-law.

There was something very attractive to me in this young lady's appearance, and I felt much pity for her in her disappointment. It occurred to me that she should at least be reimbursed for her services in taking care of her uncle, and I believed the court would allow her something therefor. I went to her, and having told her that I knew how she was situated with regard to the property, I asked her if she intended to put in a claim for services in nursing her uncle. She replied that she had not thought of doing so. Besides, she would be obliged to employ a lawyer to draw the papers, and she had no money to pay for counsel.

I told her that I was a lawyer and would draw the papers, agreeing to charge no fee unless her claims were allowed, and even in that case I would make my charge very little. She took my address and said that she would think the matter over.

I took my desk to my office and was very much pleased at possessing so fine an antique piece of furniture. I never looked at it without being reminded of Colonial times. There were a great many little drawers and pigeon-holes in it, and I felt happy at the prospect of filling them with documents when I should have clients. My first client was Miss Girard, who employed me to put in a claim for her for services in nursing her uncle. I named a large amount; but, since her uncle had been ill only a few days, the court would not allow more than a hundred dollars, and even this she was obliged to wait a long time for. I made no charge; but, since she insisted on paying me a fee, I named $5, which I at once returned to her in such a gift as would be appropriate for a young man to give a young lady.

I was energetic in looking for clients and soon got together a sufficient business to feel that I might marry and make a home for myself. I kept up my acquaintance with Miss Girard, and it was not long before I made up my mind that when I felt able to support a wife I would ask her to marry me.

Meanwhile the division of her uncle's estate hung fire. The number of legal heirs multiplied, a new one or two families being discovered every few weeks. It was impossible to tell what Miss Girard's share would be, but at most it could not be over a few hundred dollars. We gradually became acknowledged lovers, and she asked some one to support her. I concluded not to wait any longer for clients, but to marry at once.

We returned from a short honeymoon to a little house I rented, and in order to add to our meager stock of furniture I removed my desk to my home. My wife was pleased to have an article that had been in use by her uncle at her former home where she could always see it. It was placed in our library and used for the keeping of our private papers, one pigeon-hole being for pen and ink, and certain little odds and ends, such as paper clips, mail scissors and other such articles.

Hard times came on, and my law business became much reduced. My wife was a good manager, and we lived economically. The few hundred dollars she expected to get for her share in her uncle's estate would have been welcome, but month after month passed and we heard nothing of a division. Either a new relative had turned up or a piece of property must be sold before the estate could be closed.

I have always been a sportsman, and in the season I often went duck shooting. While on the water I needed a pocket compass and usually took one with me on my outings. One day when I returned from a hunt I threw my compass into the pigeon-hole where I kept odds and ends. When I took it out again I noticed a vibration of the needle. I grew curious as to the cause. I put it back into the pigeon-hole, and, brushing a light to hear on it, I saw that it was deflected from the pole.

Every one knows that metal is required to detect the magnetic needle. But I was sure that my desk had been worked together and that there was not a nail in it. I removed every article from the pigeon-hole and put back the compass. The needle was still deflected.

Now, I take very little interest in what I know, but a great deal of interest in what I don't know. I didn't know what deflected that needle, and I was bound to find out if I had to pull the desk to pieces in order to do so. I moved the compass about as near as I could to the desk, and the needle always pointed in the same direction—toward the upper left hand corner. A careful examination of this part of the desk told me there was a space there that had been left unused by a drawer or pigeon-hole. I rapped on it, and the sound given out indicated that it was hollow. Nevertheless my curiosity told me that there was metal there.

Determined to get into that space, though I regretted to injure my desk, I began to take off the woodwork at the face part. This revealed a circular steel plate about half an inch in diameter. I pressed my thumb upon it, and out popped a steel drawer. There was but one article in the drawer—a paper.

Something told me that my wife was the person to examine that paper. I called her, and she came into the room. On seeing that I had mutilated the desk we both prized so highly she uttered an exclamation of rebuke. I showed her that I had discovered a secret drawer and there was a paper in it. It was for her, as the nearest person to her late uncle, to see what that paper contained. She took it out, opened it and read words written in her uncle's handwriting and signed by him and two witnesses:

I give and bequeath all my property, real and personal, to my beloved niece Margaret Girard.

I could not resist the temptation to look over my wife's shoulder and know what she read as soon as herself. She turned and threw her arms around my neck, and we remained locked together without speaking. I don't know which of the two was the happier. I doubt if either supposed the other.

That was a joyful evening both for my wife and myself. Not the least source of pleasure to me was that the will had not been discovered sooner. I had married my wife when she was poor and partly that I might take care of her. A few weeks had elapsed before a fortune came to her like a summer shower in the midst of a drought. But we could not dismiss from our minds the one chance out of thousands of finding the will. Had I not been a sportsman I would not have needed a pocket compass. Had the secret drawer containing it been made of wood still would the movement of the needle have been noticed. It was the unerring finger of science that pointed to the key to wealth.

"Well," said my wife when our first transports had passed, "you began by being my attorney when I put in a claim for nursing my uncle; you may as well continue in my service and present the will to the proper authorities."

"And there will be no need for me to return the fee in fruits or flowers," was my reply.

Great was the astonishment of both officials and I was expected when more than two years after Mr. Girard's death a will was produced giving his property to the person it was presumed he intended to benefit and leaving out of a host of claimants. Some of these, who would not have received more than a few hundred dollars had there been no will, had been long considering the matter.

The inheritance turned out to be much larger than had been expected. Some of the claims Mr. Girard had made shortly before his death during the long period that the chambers in the desk were hanging up his relative had been a good deal in value. Considering the disappointment suffered by so many persons, my wife called for a list of those who would have been disappointed if the will had not been found. For the sake of all that was in it, that for his in exchange, money and many are being benefited by it.

There is an old moral to my story. It shows plainly that persons who have to prosper should not sit down and wait. No Mr. Newbrow, for something to turn up. A stone in the bottom of a river may lie there for centuries. That which is endowed with life—motion under another name—meets opportunities.

DEALING IN STOCKS.

Know What You Are Buying Before Investing Your Money.

We hear of fortunes quickly made in Wall street, of others who have accumulated enormous wealth by a lucky strike, of inventions that have made inventors rich. But how many of these instances are there? Just a few, while countless thousands and hundreds of thousands have lost everything in unsuccessful ventures.

The prosperous, successful man or woman is the one who buys with knowledge of what he or she is buying, whether it be a piece of beef, a dozen eggs, a horse, a house or stocks and bonds.

Money has been made in Wall street and will continue to be made. Those who buy stocks when they sell low and sell them when they advance must make money. The operation is no different from buying a horse or a farm at a bargain and selling it at a profit. But one should exercise just as much care in one transaction as in the other.

Have nothing to do with those who offer glittering opportunities to get rich quickly. This will save your money. It may sound very nice to say that one owns a thousand shares of a gold, silver or copper mine with a par value of $10,000 and that cost the holder only $50 or $100. But what use is such a certificate unless it has real value? Better put the $50 or $100 in one share of a dividend paying stock and be satisfied with moderate returns and a moderate profit on any advance the stock may enjoy.—Leslie's Weekly.

HOLES IN MACARONI.

Did You Ever Wonder How the Dough Was Put Around Them?

Haven't you often asked, "How do they get the holes in macaroni?" Yes, you undoubtedly have, and unless you have visited a macaroni factory you are probably still in doubt. Interesting methods are employed in bringing this food into the form in which it is placed before the public.

After the dough has been well mixed and kneaded in a powerful machine it is ready to form into macaroni, which is of a tube shape about one-fourth inch in diameter, or spaghetti, which is a solid stick shape of about one-eighth inch in diameter. This is done by forcing the dough under hydraulic pressure through a cylinder with a flat circular bronze die or mold at the bottom. The macaroni die is full of holes about one-fourth inch in diameter, as each hole has a small pin in the center of it, which is attached to one side of the hole. This pin forms the hole in the macaroni and divides the dough on one side as it starts through the hole, but before the dough reaches the end of the hole the divided side comes together and remains so, making a perfect tube. The spaghetti die contains only plain holes about one-eighth inch in diameter arranged in groups. When macaroni and spaghetti come from the presses or cylinders they are cut into certain lengths, the length depending upon whether the curing or drying is to be done on trays or by hanging over rods.—Exchange.

Here Are Two Kinds of Education.

In an article called "Increase Your Driving Power" in the American Magazine a writer says:

"Horace Taft, a brother of the former president, once told me that he never considered a man as educated just because he could talk a long time and answer a lot of questions about a given subject, but that he did consider him as educated if he set down before some hard, unknown subject or task he could in two hours make something out of it. Judge Daly, brother of Augustin Daly, once told me that he and his brother at the ages of twelve and fourteen years were left as the sole supporters of their widowed mother.

"That," the judge said, "I consider about as good an education as a boy can be given."

Our Climate an Asset.

On no other continent, under no other sun, in no other zone, in all the world can be found the same extent of fertile, available agricultural land as in these United States. And in no other equally large tract as that stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and between the great lakes and the gulf can be depicted the same amount of normally good weather as nature has bestowed on this favored land. Our rain and sunshine are so proportioned the one to the other as to produce the best yearly conditions on earth.—Detroit Free Press.

Our Platinum Product.

The United States produces platinum as a byproduct of copper refineries and also from most of the placer gold mines of the western slopes. Its occurrence there is very widespread, being found along the entire west coast, from Alaska to California. Except in a very few localities, however, it is found in such small quantities that its recovery save as a byproduct is not profitable.—Exchange.

Holy Land Earthquakes.

Earthquakes more or less violent have been of frequent occurrence in Palestine. One of the most violent occurred in the reign of Uzziah. This was connected by Josephus with the sacrilege and punishment of that monarch.

Innocence.

Father (to rebellious five-year-old)—Don't tell me you won't. Daughter—Well, papa, what must I say when I mean I won't?—Topeka Capital.

Nothing is so grand as truth, nothing so forcible, nothing so moral.—Landon.

THE OLD STARCH DOES IT.

Why Collars Crack In Laundering and How to Save Them.

In laundering collars and shirts the first thing to be done is to get the old starch out of them. No amount of washing in water, hot or cold, will do this, for water does not dissolve starch. Cracked collars are due to the old starch being left in the fabric and new starch being put on top of it.

In the words of Wright Van Deusen in the National Laundry Journal, "the old starch remaining in the goods crystallizes under the heat and pressure of the ironing machine and puts the fiber in a brittle condition; hence when bent for passing through the finishing machine it cracks. Remove the old starch, and, with the uniform consistency of everything that is good in new starch, the collar will be so pliable that it can be bent between finger and thumb with little danger of damage."

The remedy is very simple. It is that used by most of the largest collar manufacturers—the dissolving of the old starch with a liquid malt extract called diastase. This turns the starch into sugar and takes it out of the fabric. One laundry in Troy handles 275,000 dozen collars a week and has so few broken collars that it pays its inspectors a bonus of 2½ cents for each one found.

The Anthracite Jehu.

The coal cart driver is nature's most wonderful dialectician. He knows all the profane branches of his mother tongue. When a coal cart driver obstructs a motorman it is fifty-fifty which insult is comest most. The papers never mention it because cold print cannot reproduce fervor.

The coal cart driver treats diamonds with disrespect and has no favors for millionaires. Why should one kofow who sits upon a dusty fortune? Never! And he takes coal into your cellar as if it were worth no more than Irish potatoes or automobiles.

Still, for the coal cart driver we have some veneration. At least he is not upish at least he is democratic, at least he mingles without pride and does not wear a wrist watch.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

All good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is a wonderful remedy for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have yielded in a few weeks. The dwelling house of Israel H. Crouse in Littlestown, was the scene of a fire on Saturday night. The fire, which was confined to one room, is supposed to have started by the bed clothing coming in contact with a short circuited lamp cord. Nevada Crouse had been reading and had the light hanging close to the bed. It is supposed that when he turned the light out, two exposed places of the cord, which was in bad condition, came together. Crouse did not awaken until the flames burned his arm.

Can you believe your senses? When two of them, taste and smell, having been impaired if not utterly destroyed, by Nasal Catarrh, are fully restored by Ely's Cream Balm. Can you doubt that this remedy deserves all that has been said of it by the thousands who have used it? It is applied directly to the affected air-passages and begins its healing work at once. Why not get it to-day? All druggists or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York, on receipt of 50 cents.
